Announcing the Return of Our Annual Show March 3-6, 2022

The Lewis Ginter Botanical Garden in Richmond has generously offered to host our annual AOS judged show in the north wing of their great conservatory. Plans are rapidly developing as we adapt our show to this new venue. Judges have been secured and our show application has been submitted to the AOS. Now we are ready to seek interest from our neighboring orchid societies. Please take a moment and let us know if you might consider participating in our show, as it will be a big help in our planning. At this time we are only asking for your interest: Once we update our Show Rules and Entry Form in the near future, we will then ask for your commitment. There is display space for everyone who was a part of our past shows, including - new this year - tabletop displays by individual hobbyists. The north wing provides the opportunity for maximizing everyone's creative displays. The Garden boasts over 14,000 family memberships so turnout should be great. And as at our former location, we will have the usual compliment of orchid vendors to keep everyone happy.

Please give our show some thought - we'd love to have you join us in such a grand space. Please respond to virginiaorchidsociety@gmail.com and let us know if your society or your individual members might consider participating in our new show endeavor.

Thanks,
Ron Geraci, VOS Show Committee
